HORSES.—General Dumas, of France, has published a work upon Arab horses, with the commentaries by Emil Abd El Kader. The Arabs thus define the characteristics of the thoroughbred horse:

The throughbred horse is well proportioned; his ears are small and in constant motion, his bones massive, his cheeks meagre, his nostrils wide as the throat of a lion, his eyes bright, black, and level with the head, his neck long, his chest full, his withers prominent, his loins well knit, his haunches strong, his fore ribs long, and the hinder ones short, the belly hollow, the crop rounded, the upper part of his legs like an ostrich's, and furnished with muscles like a camel's, his hoofs black, and of uniform color, his hair fine and abundant, his flesh firm, his tail very thick at the dock, but loose at the extremity Looked at in front he is like unto the peak of a lofty mountain.—Looked at from behind, he seems to lean forward as if he would prostrate himself Looked at from the side, he shows himself robust and well set up. To sum up: he should have four points broad. the front, the chest, the group, and the legs; four points long: the neck, the upper part of the legs, the belly, and the haunches; four points short: the loins, the pasterns, the ears and the tail. All these qualities in a good horse, say the Arabs, prove firstly that he has real blood in him, and secondly that he is certainly fleet of foot, for his form combines something of the greyhound. the pigeon, and the mahari, or riding camel.

A thoroughbred horse is one that has three things long, three things short, three things broad, and three things clean. The three things long are the ears, the neck and the forelegs. The three things short, are the dock, the hind legs, and the back. The three things broad are the forehead, the chest, and the croup. The three things clean, are the skin, the eyes, and the hoof. He ought to have the withers high, and the flanks hollow, and without any superfluous flesh. "Dost thou accomplish a journey at great speed with steeds high in the withers and fine in the flanks?"—The tail should be well furnished at the root, so that it may cover the space between the thighs. "The tail is like unto the veil of a bride." The eye of a horse should be turned as if trying to look at his nose, like the eye of a man who squints. "Like a beautiful coquette who leers through her veil, his glance toward the corner of the eye pierces through the hair of the forelock which covers his forehead as with a veil." The ears resemble those of an antelope startled in the midst of her herd. The forelock abundant. "In the hour of pain mount a slender mare whose forehead is covered by silky and flowing hair." The nostrils wide. "Each of his nostrils resemble the den of a lion; the wind rushes out of it when he is panting." The cavities in the interior of the nostrils ought to be entirely black. If they are partly black and partly white the horse is of only mod erate value. The fetlock thick. "They have fetlocks that resemble the down which is concealed beneath an eagle's wing, and like him they grow black in the heat of battle. The fetlock joints small. "The fetlock joints of their hind legs are small, but the muscles on both sides stand out prominent." The hoof, round and hard. "The hoof should resemble the cup of a slave. They walk on hoofs hard as the moss covered stones of a stagnant pool." The frogs concealed beneath the hoofs are seen when he lifts his feet, and resemble date stones in hardness."

A LAWYER riding through the town of Worcester, stopped at a cottage to inquire his way. The lady of the house told him he must keep on straight for some time, then turn to the right; but said that she herself was going to pass the road that he must take, and if he would wait a few moments till she could get her horse ready, she would show him the way.

"Well," said he, "bad company is better than none—make haste."

After jogging on five or six miles the gentleman asked if he had not come to the road he must take.

"O, yes," said she, "we have passed it two or three miles back; but I thought bad company was better than none, so I kept you along with me."

SAVAGE COMPLIMENTS.—Two Indian chiefs were at dinner at the White House, Washington, and one of them, ignorant of its sharpness, swallowed a spoonful of mustard. His eyes streamed in agony, which his brother chief observing, said, "O, my brother, why do you weep?"—The other replied, "I am thinking about my son who was killed at such a battle." Presently, the other chief took a spoonful of the same stuff, which caused his eyes to stream like his brother's, who, in return, asked him, "And why, pray, do you cry?" "I weep to think that you were not killed when your son was!" was the impatient reply.

VETERINARY SCIENCE AND POPULAR FALLACIES.—Sweeney in horses—a disease which is believed to cause a great many horses to go lame, and is further believed to be located in the muscles of the forward extremities or in the regions of the shoulders (better understood.)

To veterinary surgeons of this country I appeal; and in the first place ask you, why do you permit the people in your respective fields of practice to remain in the erroneous opinion that such a disease does exist, when you see persons applying their specifics for the above supposed disease—such as blowing up the shoulder, as they call it (which is merely inflating the cellular tissue, for the purpose of filling up the cavity caused by absorption of the muscle,) applying the irritating blister, or inserting the barbarous siton? I say, why do you not enlighten the people? Is it because you fear the people will find the morbid locality, thus prevent many cases of this supposed disease, and injure your practice? Or is it because you do not understand the pathology of disease? However, let the past rest, but let me say to you, veterinary surgeons, take the field with me; let us, through the medium of the Spirit of the Times, enlighten the people concerning the barbarous practice of veterinary medicine when erroneously applied, and in a short time the necessity of veterinary colleges in this country will be realized, If you don't aid me, please take the field against me; either darken my pathological views, or permit me to darken yours. How absurd the idea appears to me, when I consider our American people are torturing that noble animal, the horse, by applying their specifics and cure-alls, without the least knowledge of their effects; and the result is injurious rather than beneficial. But, who is accountable? I say, veterinary surgeons, for not giving the pathological facts to the people publicly, through the instrumentality of some paper? Let them see that there is science in the veterinary art, and that science can be acquired by an acquaintance with hippopathology, anatomy, and physiology.

I shall make it my especial business hereafter to expose and correct all erroneous practice in the veterinary art so far as I am competent, and will be thankful for the aid of all the profession through this paper.

The cause of the disease known as Sweeney is advancing the limb in consequence of irritation in the inferior part of the limb; the animal by so doing does bring into action the extensor muscles; consequently, those muscles develop, and the flexor muscles not being used, of course become smaller, by absorption—But the person not acquainted with the science will say there is no change of appearance in the lame leg from the sound one. How is this? The shoulder is wasted away, and the blacksmith has examined the foot, and all is well. But permit me to say we have many morbid conditions of the foot and neighboring parts, known only to veterinarians, such as exostosis and anchylosis of the navicular joint, also rupture of the flexor tendon, lominitis and synovial irritation—symptoms of which I shall hereafter describe. All the above diseases show no symmetrical change to an ordinary observer.—Wilkes' Spirit.

LADY KISSING.—A lady writing to an Eastern paper says:

Among the lesser evils of life kissing is one of the disagreeables. Two ladies meet, kiss, and are having a nice chat, in comes a third lady in haste, warm kissing, chats a few minutes, more kissing, she leaves. First and second ladies regretting so short a stay with them. Third lady is gone but not forgotten. First lady, "I'm so glad to be rid of such a nuisance, and always glad when she is gone." Second lady, "I never did like her, what an abominable breath? always smells like onions." The number third's peculiarities and character are dissected in a manner that would do credit to an anatomist. A kiss between mother and daughter, brother and sister, is a chaste and sacred emblem of true friendship, also a kiss between two real friends—Such kisses I like, but to kiss lips that you know have been stained by falsehood or gossip is very revolting to my feelings, and such lips are kissed daily in the present silly fashion. Lips kiss you that would curse you, if swearing was fashionable among ladies. I have been trying to save my kisses for my husband, if Providence and the war ever intend that I shall have one, which I think is extremely doubtful, as I am beginning to fear that such a thing has never been born. Wish men would get to kissing when they meet so as to disgust us as much as we have disgusted them.

"The daily newspapers of your party are perfect nuisances," said a politician to his opponent.

"That's just what horse thieves think of sheriffs," replied the other.

HARD LYING.—There lives in New Hampshire a man they call Joe; a fellow noted for the tough lies he can tell. A correspondent informs us that Joe called in at Holton's lately, and found him almost choked with smoke, when he suggested, "You don't know as much about managing smoky chimneys as I do, squire, or you'd cure 'em." "Ah!" said Holton, with interest, "did you ever see a chimney cured!' "Seen it?" said old Joe, "I think I have. I had the worst one in Seaboard county once, and I cured it a little too much." "How was that?" asked Holton. "Why, you see," said Joe, "I built a house out yonder, at Wolf's Hollow, ten or twelve years ago. Jim Bush, the fellow that built the chimneys, kept blind drunk three quarters of the time, a crazy drunk the other. I told him I thought he'd have something wrong; but he stuck to it and finished the house. Well, we moved in and built a fire the next morning to boil the teakettle. All the smoke came thro' the room and went out of the windows; not a bit went out up the flues. We tried it for two or three days, and it got worse. By and by it came on to rain, and the rain began to come down the chimney. It put the fire out in a minute, and directly it came down by the pail full.—We had to get the baby off the floor as soon as we could, or it would have been drowned. In fifteen minutes the water stood knee deep on the floor. I pretty soon saw what was the matter. The drunken cuss had put the chimney wrong end up, and it drawed downwards. It gathered all the rain within a hundred yards, and poured it down by bucketfuls." "Well, that was unfortunate," remarked Holton; "but what in the world did you do with the house? Surely you never cured that chimney?" "Didn't I, tho'?" answered Joe; "yes I did." "How?" asked Holton. "Turned it the other end up," said the incorrigible, "and then you ought to have seen it draw. That was the way I cured it too much." "Drew too much?" asked Holton. "Well, Squire, you may judge for yourself," said old Joe. "Pretty soon after we got the chimney down and the other end up, I missed one of the chairs out of the room, and directly I see'd another of 'em shooting towards the fire-place. Next the table went, and I see the black log going up. Then I grabbed the old woman under one arm, and the baby under t'other, and started; but just as I got to the door I see'd the cat going across the floor backwards, holding on with her claws to the carpet, yelling awfully. It wasn't no use. I just see her going over the top of the chimney, and that was the last of her." "Well, what did you do then?" asked Holton; "of course you could not live in such a house?" "Couldn't I, though?" said Joe; "but I did; I put a poultice on the jam of the fireplace, and that drawed t'other way, so we had no more trouble." That is what we call the hard lying.

HOW HE GOT HIS WIFE.—John W—was, or is, a genius. He made quite a pile in the Mexican war, and invested it in a canal boat, running on the Ohio canal. John was a bachelor, but in course of time was smitten by the little god. An old farmer, who lived in the "heal" path, near Massillon, had two rosy-cheeked daughters, but all attempts to gain an introduction by their admirers were foiled by the old man. But John was not discouraged. A large chunk of beef brought off the mastiff, and John proceeded to deliberately appropriate the various articles hanging on the clothes-line. Chemisettes and stockings, breeches, shirts, and things were crowded in glorious confusion into the capacious bag carried by John on this occasion. They were brought aboard the boat and placed in the "bow cabin," to pave the way to an introduction on the return trip. A week after the boat passed the farm-house, on its way South; and John jumped ashore and went to the house. He represented that one of the drivers had stolen the clothing, that he had discharged him, and desired to restore the articles. The young ladies were delighted, as the sack contained all their Sunday fixins. The old man said, "I always thought that all the boatmen would steal; and I am delighted to find one honest man. You must call again, Captain." The captain did call again, and soon after married the youngest. On the wedding night, he told his wife the ruse he had used to gain an introduction, and the old man gave orders that no more clothing should be left "out o' nights."

AN attorney brought an immense bill to a lady for some business he had done for her. The lady (to whom he had once paid his addresses) murmured at the charges. "Madam," replied the limb of the law, "I had a mind to convince you that my profession is lucrative, and that I would not have been a bad match."

MATRIMONIAL.—We clip the following advertisement from an eastern exchange:

I have lived solitary long enough; I want some somebody to talk to, to quarrel with, then kiss and make up. Therefore I am open to proposals from young ladies and fresh widows of more than an average respectabil ty, tolerably time in disposition, and hair of any other color but red. As near as I can judge of myself, I am not over 80 nor under 25 years of age. In height am either five feet eight or eight feet, sure. Weight 135, 315, or 531, one of the three, recollect each figure perfectly well, but as to their arrangement am somewhat puzzled.—Have a whole suit of hair, dyed by nature, and free of dandruff. Eyes butternut brindle, tinged with pea green. Nose blunt, according to the Ionic order of architecture, with a touch of composite; mouth between a cat fish's and aligator's—made especially for oratory and the reception of large oysters. Ears plainated, long and elegantly shaped. My whiskers are a combination of dog hair, moss and briar bush—well behaved and fearfully luxuriant. I am sound on the nigger question. Wear boots No 6, when corns are not troublesome, and write poetry by the mile, with double rhyme on both edges—to read backward, crosswise or diagonally. Can play the jewsharp and bass drum and whistle Yankee Doodle in Spanish. Am very correct in my morals, and first rate at tenpins; have a great regard for the Sabbath, and only drink when invited. Am a domestic animal and perfectly docile—when towels are clean and shirt buttons all right. If I possess a predominating virtue, it is that of forgiving every enemy whom I deem hazardous to handle. I say my prayers every night, musquitoes permitting, and as to whether I snore in my sleep I want somebody to tell me. Money is no object, as I never was troubled with any and never expect to.

A SEA-SICK LOVER.—The following letter, purporting to have been found in a bottle, on a voyage from San Francisco to New York, is supposed to be the last adieu of a lover, at sea, to his inamorata at home:

My Darlin Julia:—We are goin down—at least so the fust mait informs me, very soon, and that kind gentleman advises me to do my kareer on yearth. I feel very queer, havin et no brekfast, and my supper havin gone the rong wa. The waivs is rollin mountings hi; and our dyin stuard advises pork and molases tied to a string. I feel very sad; I shood like to take my hat and go ashoar. The captin is verry kind harted, and I am so soft-shelled stummicked that he is always orderin me below, and I feel constantly like comin up. Oh, if I was ashoar, I'd never come to sea agin, never, never, never!

Just to plague me, they've bin and salted all the wotter. This mornin I was sick to mi stummick, and undertook to git a drink. O, you have no idear how salt it was. I asked the mait wot the kause was, and he sed it was on account of all the pork barrels havin leaked.

There, now we are goin! I heard the captin say to a large cultured gentleman: You'd better light the lamps before you go down—and I can feel it two. The ship is pitchin, and the sailors is doin up the sails to take em ashoar, them as kan swim—wot kan I do? I aint ust to the klimate, and the wotter is so damp that it cum into mi bunk last nite. All you'll ever know about me will be this here bottle, and you cant rely upon gettin it verry sartin, whales is so thick in this longertude

There, we're goin down! Now I must seel the bot——

The rest was illegible.

THE KING OF THE POOR.—At Creto, a small town in the Tyrol, there exists the custom of choosing a king of the poor. The individual on whom this dignity is conferred is usually some honest, hard working man, without debt, but also without savings. The monarch in question having recently died, a popular festival took place on the nomination of his successor. The king elect was conveyed in an old cart to the spot where the ceremony of enthronization was to take place; there an old and worm eaten chair and table had been placed on a platform; the new sovereign was gravely placed and after being served with a very meagre repast, accompanied with some brandy, the last will of his predecessor, which was drawn up in humorous terms, was read aloud; he was then led, followed by a procession of people almost in rags, into all the liquor shops, where drink was given gratis.

THE beautiful Marquise Doria, a lady equally well known in Italy and France, has just died at the age of twenty, from a disease brought on by constantly having flowers in her room.

OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER.

SATURDAY, APRIL, 16th, 1864.

THE balance in the State Treasury, at the close of business, Monday, was $497,-621 21.

Two hundred and fifty-two patients were admitted into the State Insane Asylum during the year 1863.

A BILL has been introduced into the United States Senate appropriating $40,-000 for the protection of emigrants crossing the plains.

THE bullion shipped from Aurora, by Wells, Fargo & Co., for the first three months of this year was $317,500; last year, $41,000—which gives a balance in favor of the present year of $276,500.

THE following prominent Californians were in Washington on the 11th of March: Collector James, T. W. Park, H. Jones, Lloyd Tevis, George North, and Jerome Davis.

OFFICIAL APPOINTMENT.—The Marysville Appeal has been appointed the official organ for the publication of Federal Acts, Resolutions, and Orders, from the Department of State.

GENERAL MEADE says that the Army of the Potomac, since it left the lines in front of Washington, in March, 1861, has had one hundred thousand men killed and wounded.

TO BE EXECUTED.—The Supreme Court have remanded the case of W. Williams, convicted in this county of the murder of A. Blanchard, for sentence.—He will be executed on the 7th of May.

THE party on Wednesdry night was a very pleasant affair—all present were cheerful and happy, and went home with the joyful anticipation of a May Hop which Mr. French promised should be given early next month.

PLENTY OF RAIN IN THE MOUNTAINS.—The mountain papers state that all the ditches are full of water, and that for all practicable purposes they have had rain and snow enough to give them an abundant supply of water the present year.

WARM weather has come upon us unawares, creating a languid, enervating feeling commonly call the "spring fever," and a desire for summer coats, no coats, and shady places. A few weeks ago the subject generally discussed was the dry weather; now it is the warm weather. Would that we could talk a little more about the wet weather.

GENERAL SUTTER.—The bill that passed the Legislature, Monday night, the 4th, in aid of this pioneer, provides for paying him two hundred and fifty dollars per month for five years; and in case he should die during that period, for the balance of the term the money is to go to his heirs.

A DISPATCH from San Francisco to the Union says, we learn from headquarters the Government will order no draft on this coast, except in the event of foreign war. All the men required can be enlisted without trouble. The enrollment is completed, and an order from Washington provides for further particulars concerning the number of men liable for military duty.

THE launch of Captain Kidd's new Sacramento steamer, the Washoe, from Owen's ship yard, on the Potrero, on the 5th inst., was a success, the vessel moving gracefully into the water. She will soon be ready to begin running between San Francisco and Sacramento, when we may expect a legitimate opposition; for, says the Call, Captain Kidd established a reputation for can't-be-bought-off-ativeness when he was running the ill-fated Nevada.

THE Solano Herald of the 9th, pays his respects to us, and denominates the NEWS "one of the few copperhead sheets yet left in California, that ekes out a sickly existence by combining the vending of quack nostrums with humbug agencies," &c. It is true that the publication of the NEWS is not the only business in which we are engaged; we keep a general assortment of groceries and provisions, books and stationery, perfumery and patent medicines, Which of the foregoing our friend of the Herald regards as "quack nostrums" we know not; we hope, however, he will not insist that it is our tea, for we take a pride in always keeping the very best article; and, as to the "humbug agencies"—that of course applies to the California Steam Navigation Company and to Wells, Fargo & Co. We are agents for no others; and these institutions will no doubt appreciate the compliment the Herald pays them. But the Herald says we are a "copperhead." We care very little for names, but profess to have a high regard for principles; besides, names are sometimes arbitrary terms, and have no fitness whatever for the thing intended to be represented.—For instance: the name by which the Herald designates its principles is "Union." Well, all know about how far that goes. He is for Union if slavery can be abolished; if not, then "No Union with slaveholders." But the Herald again says:

"We are not certain that the NEWS man can comprehend an argument; but we ask him to reflect that if there had been no slavery there could have been no abolitionists; if the South had not rebelled there could have been no war."

"If there is any argument in the foregoing it is about this—that if there had been no Abolitionists there would have been no rebellion and no civil war. We think the Herald is about right in that "argument," however unwittingly it is made."

Hear him again:

"And when he shall have duly digested these propositions, let him tell us whether the monopolizing of all the offices of profit by new comers in the Union party (who constitute but one-seventh of it) does not furnish better evidences of "selfishness and covetousness"—of profit being the "incentive to their patriotism and the bribe for their loyalty"—than, any cry that can be raised against that monopoly."

Well, friend Powers, we have, as you have already seen, "digested" the first proposition, and, we hope, to your satisfaction, and will now proceed to answer, and we trust equally satisfactory, your second. We honestly do think that it is too bad for those renegade Democrats to monopolize all the paying offices, whilst you, who have borne the burden and heat of the day, have to take a back seat and grow lean upon your loyalty. But it is a matter that we cannot control, because we are an outsider; we can only offer you our sympathy. If we thought it would be heeded we would offer this advice—that if any more Democrats than you now have in the party offer to vote the "Union" ticket, administer to them an oath, that they will not seek office themselves nor vote for a renegade Democrat, and if they refuse to take the oath tell them they can't vote the ticket. If you don't adopt this or some equally stringent measure, it will be impossible to remedy the evil complained of.

One more paragraph from the Herald's article, and we have done. Here it is:

"We congratulate the democratic wing of the Union party in this county upon the accession of this copperhead ally in Yolo, and—on the principle by which they have achieved position, that the more recent the accession the purer the patriotism—suggest that they should immediately advance him to a foremost position—to the Senatorship, at least."

We thank you, Mr. Herald, for your disinterested kindness in suggesting our promotion to senatorial honors, but we beg to be excused; we have no aspirations in that direction—"vending quack nostrums" pays better; but if we should ever become so crazy as you did once, and permit ourself to be lifted up to that exalted position, and should feel it our duty to introduce a bill, and engineer it through both branches of the Legislature, to take away from you the county printing of your county, we pledge you in advance that we will not then give you a letter to the Governor, asking him to veto the very bill we should thus have succeeded in passing. Saba?

CHARLES DICKENS' second son, an officer in India, is dead. While his father stood as chief mourner by the grave of Thackeray, almost at the very hour his son was dying on the other side of the world.

The Case of Ridgley Greathouse

Ridgley Greathouse arrived from Yreka by the Sacramento boat on Monday evening, in charge of the U S. military authorities, and was taken in irons to the U. S. Provost Marshal's headquarters on California and Market streets, where he remained under guard until Wednesday, when he was conveyed to to the Panama steamer, to be sent East to suffer the penalty of his crimes on the gallows. His arrest is for violation of his oath and parole of honor—a purely military offence—and he is beyond the reach of civil process. When the Chapman was seized, the documents on which his fate depends were found in a secret drawer in a secretary, which was a part of his luggage. The wonder is, that any man of his acknowledged ability and shrewdness should have so far forgotten himself as to have omitted to destroy the documents after having accomplished the purpose for which he obtained them, as their discovery was but a certain prelude to the signing of his death warrant In order to show how readily a traitor will add perjury to his other crimes, we have transcribed these documents in full. The first is as follows:

OFFICE OF PROVOST MARSHAL,
St. Louis, Mo. Sept. 4, 1861.

Permission is granted to R. Greathouse to pass beyond the limits of the City and County of St. Louis to go to Louisville, Ky. J. MCKINSTRY, Maj. U. S. A.

[Turn over.] Provost Marshal.

DESCRIPTION OF PERSON.

Name, R. Greathouse; age, 28; height, 5 feet 8 inches; color of eyes, blue; color of hair, light; peculiarities, ——. It is understood that the within named and subscribed accepts this pass, on his word of honor, that he is and ever will be loyal to the United States; and if ever found in arms engaged against the Union, or in any way aiding her enemies, the penalty will be death.

R. GREATHOUSE.

The second averment is in words as follows:

PERMIT OF PROVOST MARSHAL.

By order of the Commanding General, Ridgley Greathouse is allowed to pass from Evansville to Henderson, Kentucky on the river, he having taken the oath to support the Constitution of the United States, and to be true and loyal to the United States and the State of Indiana, and that he will not divulge or reveal anything he may see or hear within our lines, or give any aid or comfort to our enemies.

BLYTHE HYNES, Prov. Mars'l.
Evansville, Indiana, Feb. 6, 1862.

On the reverse is the following description of person; Name, Ridgley Greathouse; age, 30; height, 5 feet 8 inches; color of eyes, blue; color of hair, light; peculiarities, light goatee and moustache.

The third document is as follows:

MILITARY PASS—NO 253.

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF THE OHIO,
Louisville, Ky., Feb. 5, 1862.

Pass bearer, Mr. R. Greathouse, thro' our lines to Evansville. By command of Brigadier General Buell.

A. F. RICHMOND, Aie-de-Camp.

On the reverse is the following oath:

I solemnly swear, without any mental reservation or evasion, that I will support the Constitution of the United States, and the laws made in pursuance thereof; and that I will not take up arms against the United States, or give aid or comfort, or furnish information, directly or indirectly, to any person or persons belonging to the so-styled Confederate States. who are now or may be in rebellion against the Government of the United States; so help me God.

It is understood that the penalty for violating this oath is death.

R. GREATHOUSE.

AN organization was effected in Red Bluff, last week, says the Independent, for the purpose of opening a wagon road to Idaho City, Idaho Territory. We are unable to get the proceedings, but understand that George Thomas, formerly connected with the California Stage Company, was elected President of this company, and some ten or twelve trustees were also elected. Charters from Idaho Territory and the State of Oregon have been obtained, and the California Company will organize under the general corporation law of the State. The road will be pushed through without delay. For some time past emigrant trains have been passing through town on their way to the Northern mines by this route.

DISCOURAGING NEWS FROM IDAHO.—Mr. Chase, a returned Boise miner, says the Aurora Times, is not by any means sanguine about the prospects in that inhospitable region. He says the mines in California are much richer than those of Idaho; that in the latter country the mines occupy a very limited space, and are poor at that. It is estimated that 80,000 men in Idaho were out of employment, and everything was exorbitantly high. The climate is cold, and they have ice there in August. It is nothing uncommon to have four or five feet of snow, which lasts all through the winter.

THE people of Pittsburgh, Pa., are blessed with a nice alderman named J. F. K. Jones. At present he is lying in jail awaiting sentence for four convictions—assault and battery, keeping a disorderly house, adultery and perjury. He made an attempt to commit suicide by opening a vein in his arm.

A GOOD CLAIM.—The following suit came up before the Fourth District Court, in San Francisco, on Friday last:

J. R. Hardenbergh vs. C. W. Hastings and another.—To-day an argument on a demurrer was held in this case. It is one of some importance, inasmuch as the amount involved is about $120,000. The circumstances of the case are these. The plaintiff is the second husband of Mrs. Maria Hardenbergh, who had a son by her former husband. Her son some time since died, and at the time of his death he was the owner of forty feet of mining ground in the Gold Hill mining district, Storey county, and before his death told the defendant that he was anxious that his mother should be given the forty feet which he owned in the above named district. It appears, that he failed to perfect any legal instrument giving the stock to his mother. The present action is brought to compel the defendant, who now holds the mining ground, to give to plaintiff a deed of all right, title, and interest to its possession. A point of law arises as to whether the act of the son in bequeathing in the manner he did, is valid in law. The plaintiffs admit that the mining ground is personal property for the purpose of this action, and defendants deny that as a donatio causa mortis, the act of Mrs. Hardenbergh's son can be regarded as legal.

SINGULAR RECOGNITION.—On Thursday evening, one of those pleasing episodes of life which occasionally sparkle upon the pathway of the wayfarer, and leave a bright spot upon memory's tablets, happened in a restaurant on Montgomery street. A lady and gentleman who had been to the theatre went into a saloon for the purpose of getting a cup of tea. A few moments after they had entered a man followed, and taking a seat at the same table, began staring very intently at the lady. Her companion spoke to the man, and asked him if he would be kind enough to take a seat at another table. "Excuse me," said the stranger, "but I desire to ask your companion a question, if she will permit me." The lady signified her willingness to answer him, when he said: "If I am not mistaken your name is ——, and you are a native of Decater, Illinois." She replied that she was a native of the town mentioned, and that she had borne the name until she had married. "Then I am glad to see you," replied the stranger, "for you are my sister. When I left home you were only seven years old; but something in your features, when I saw you in the theatre, caused me to believe that I knew you, and I followed you." Of course a joyful meeting was the result.—Call, April 3d.

MORE STEAMBOATS TO BE BUILT.—It is reported that the California Steam Navigation Company are about having two large steamboats built to run in their Sacramento and Stockton lines. The exact dimensions of either we have been unable to learn, but it is said that the Stockton steamer will be about the size of the Cornelia, and has its keel now laid at Steamboat Point, while the steamer for the Sacramento trade will be about one-fifty larger than the Chrysopolis, and will be built at the Potrero, on the same ways that were used for the Yosemite.—Besides the above, a large steam ferry boat is now being built at Rincon Point, which is intended to run between this city and the Oakland railroad landing.—This boat is being built on the New York ferry boat style, with cabins on both sides and a passage way for teams and freight through the centre. This enables the boat to discharge and take freight on from either end, and having rudders at both ends obviates its turning round on leaving or coming into a wharf as is now usual.—S. F. Bulletin.

GAMBLING.—The charge to the San Francisco Grand Jury contains the following:

There is a fearful amount of gambling carried on in this city. Scarcely a street but can claim a "hell,' where the unwary are fleeced of their hard earnings.—Men who stand at the street-crossings during the day, dressed in the latest mode, are emissaries of the gamester, who sits behind his table awaiting the introduction of a victim. These fellows should be watched, and if possible brought to punishment. In all portions of the city can be found faro banks, and within a stone's throw of the City Hall, I am credibly informed, can be found a dozen gambling games It is your duty to endeavor to bring these men to punishment, and to break up these dens of iniquity. To do this, you are privileged to use such means as you may deem to be right. Unfortunately, you cannot enter these dens, but you can do the next best thing to it, you can compel those who do enter to appear before you, and give such information as they possess.

COMING HARVEST.—Appearances indicate since the late rains a golden harvest in our county, both for fruit and grain. The fields are rich with verdure and the trees gaily ornamented with blossoms. If we would see Nature in her loveliness, now, in the springtime of her beauty and fragrance, is the time to visit hill and valley and sip the sweets so freely offered. Napa and her sister valleys are seas of agricultural productiveness; and though some others may equal, it were hard to find any to surpass them in rich picturing or promises of coming bounty.—Napa Echo.

DRESSES AT A MASKED BALL IN PARIS.—The most striking of the dresses worn by the ladies was that of the Duchess de Morny, as an English lady of the last century, and the Princess Anna Murat as a peacock, her train being of tulle covered with "peacocks' eyes," her petticoats of yellow satin, peacock feathers in her breast and in her hair. Her ornaments were a band of magnificent emeralds and diamonds worn from one shoulder to the waist, as Queen Victoria wears her royal ribbon—a necklace of the same, and the aigrettes of peacocks' plumes in her head confined by an immense brooch. The Princess is said to be frequently bedecked with the Empress's jewels; she is the only lady of the Court on terms of absolute intimacy with her Majesty, whom she always addresses as "my aunt." The Princess Troubeski was dressed as a cat—cat's head upon her bosom and sleeves, and in her hair; another lady as an aviary, with a lace dress covered with birds in real feathers—her head dress consisting of a bird-cage nearly six inches square, in gilded wicker, a bird inside, with another perched upon her head.—The bosom of her dress was covered with red berries; birds nestled upon her shoulders, and another cage hung from her side, in which were several canaries.—One lady represented photography,—small photographic cards forming the trimming of her berthe; larger sized ones formed the basque, still larger the trimming of the skirt, which was of white satin. The necklace was composed of very small pictures set in gold, and the ear rings of likenesses of her hostess, the Duchess de Morny, also set in gold. The head dress completed the eccentricity of this costume. It consisted of a camera, the front of which was a mirror instead of the ordinary glass. One of the most elegant dresses was worn by a very beautiful English woman, very tall and well formed. She called herself Roma; her dress was of black velvet; upon her train was embroidered the wolf with Romulus and Remus; her hair fell in waves to her waist, and upon her head she wore a turret like diadem of gold. A belt was embroidered—in gold—with the name she had chosen. Another extremely pretty costume was that worn by Madame de Girardin as Snow. The dress was formed of tulle covered with swan's down in flakes; a mantle, close around her throat, trimmed in the same way, fell to her feet. The hair was powdered, and glistened with diamonds.—Paris Gossip of Boston Post.

A LADY in Boston has been one of the largest contractors in the war. The total amount of her contracts is said to be about $2,000,000. She has made a good deal of money. She is married.

Miscellaneous Items.

It is said that Nevada Territory will have a population of five millions in ten years.—John Peake, who pleaded guilty of poisoning the race-horse "George," was fined five hundred dollars, by Judge Cowles, of San Francisco County Court. He paid the fine in greenbacks.—The Trinity county folks are getting up a ball in aid of the Sanitary Fund.—The Marin County Journal learns that an extensive Powder Mill is to be erected immediately on Daniel's creek, in that county.—A new evening paper, with an ample capital, is to be started immediately at Sacramento.—The county seat of Mono county has been removed to Bridgeport, the archives having been taken there from Aurora last week —One of the Pioneer stage coaches lately made the trip from Virginia City to Placerville in 11¼ hours. —The Rev. Benjamin I. Low left lately by the Overland route, to attend, as a delegate from the Presbytery of California, the General Assembly of the Presbyterian (O. S.) Church, which meets at Newark, N. J., in May next.—At San Francisco, on Tuesday of last week, a well known medical gentleman administered a severe castigation to a fellow who he charged with attempting to entice a little school girl to his room by offering her presents. The doctor used a heavy cane, and the culprit is seriously hurt.—The Nevada Transcript tells of a rich claim at Little York, for which $7,000 was recently paid, and from which the purchasers took $1000 more than enough to pay for the claim and expenses in the first week's run.

A CONTROVERSY which lasted three days between a Baptist preacher and a Mormon elder in the Town Hall, Chatham, Canada, terminated in a rush at the "Saint" by the audience. Sticks, stones, and other missiles were thrown at him, and but for the police the man of many wives would scarcely have got off with life. The excuse for this conduct is that Shippy, the Mormon, had been a discharged convict, and acted indecently in some of the villages near Chatham.

A LONG affidavit, sworn to by Cora Hatch, the Spiritual lecturer, charges her husband, Dr. H., with killing three wives by ill treatment before he married her, nearly killing deponent by the same process—fraud, swindling, killing his children by abortion, robbery, grossly immoral conduct, adultery, and a few other trifles.

A NUMBER of Western capitalists are making arrangements to go extensively and legitimately into the cotton business, both by cultivating abandoned plantations in Louisiana and Mississippi, and by purchasing of the old planters. They mean to demonstrate on a large scale the advantage of free labor.

THE ALABAMA.—A letter received at Boston from Singapore, dated Jan. 2d, says:

The Alabama came here last week, coaled, and steamed into Malacca Straits. Think she will go round Sumatra into Sunda Straits, and again up the China Sea, and then over to the California coast if not captured She has 111 men on board—all discontented There are many deserters here, notwithstanding her watch of officers with loaded revolvers. There are about six Southerners on board. Her carpenter is a Massachusetts man. She has completely stopped American commerce in the East. Our vessels are lying up in all ports.

CENTS IN SAN FRANCISCO.—The Alta says: "A year or two since nobody in San Francisco would take a five-cent piece under any circumstances—it was too trifling a coin to be worth saving.—Time worked a change, however, and now "five cents is five cents" in San Francisco as elsewhere, but it is within the last week only that we have come down to nickels The railroad fare question has accomplished this revolution also. They are running after them at the Mint, and snapping them up at the Post Office with avidity."

Invigorate the System.

Dr. Hostetter' Stomach Bitters

Will accomplish this desirable revolution in the system, regulating the secretions and excretions, giving tone to the animal juices which dissolve the food, strengthen every relaxed nerve, muscle and fibre, and brings the whole machinery of vitality into vigorous and healthful play.

Strengthen the System.

The best means of imparting vigor to the brokendown frame and shattered constitution, which has yet been invented or discovered, is proffered to the feeble of both sexes and all ages in

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Debility, from whatever cause arising, may be cured; strength, in whatever manner it may have been wanted, may be restored by the use of this powerful and healthful invigorant. For indigestion and all its painful effects, bodily and mental, they are a positive specific.

A Word to the Aged.

In the decline of life the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits, without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged

Dr. Guysott's Improved
EXTRACT OF
Yellow Dock and Sarsaparill
Will Cure without Fail

Scrofula or King's Evil, Cancers, Tumors, Eruptions of the skin, Erysipelas, Chronic Sore Eyes, Ringworm or Tetter, Scald Head, Rheumatism, Pains in the Bones and Joints, Old Sores and Ulcers, Salt Rhrum, Diseases of the Kidneys, Loss of Appetite, Disease arising from the use of Mercury, Pain in the Side and Shoulder, General Debility, Dropsy, Jaundice Lumbago, &c.

Dr. Guysott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla put up in the largest sized bottles, contains more of the Honduras Sarsaparilla than any other preparation extant, which is combined with the extract of Yellow Dock, the extract of Wild Cherry and the Balsam of Fir, thus making the remedy more thoroughly efficient that any other Sarsaparilla before the public. At the same time it is perfectly free from ALL mineral poisons, which can not be said of any other of the Sarsaparilla compounds. The Invalid should beware of poisons. Mercury, Iron, Quinine, Potash, Iodine, Sulphur, Arsenic, and many other mineral and metalic poisons enter into and form the active basis of most of the sarsaparilla and panaceas of the day. Guysott's Compound Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla does not contain a particle of the substances; as any one can ascertain by applying the necessary tests.

These poisons may occasionally remove disease, but they so vitiate the blood and impregnate the whole system with their baneful effects, that the first cold or the first attack of disease, prostrates the patient's strength and subjects him or her to the most excrutiating torture, and renders another cure almost impossible and hopeless. Let all poisonous sarsaparilla preparations alone, and use Guysott's Improved Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla, which is thoroughly efficacious, perfectly harmless and purely vegetable. All kinds of diseases yield to its genial influence.

Caution.—Beware of counterfeits. All genuine Dr. Guysott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla has the name of JOHN D. PARK, Present Proprietor, Cincinnati, O., on the label.

Remember this fact when buying, all without the name of "JOHN D. PARK, Cincinnati, Ohio," on the label are counterfeit.
Sold by all Druggists.

THE

Knight's Landing News.

A SICK-BED.

Long hast thou watchtd my bed,
And smoothed the pillow oft,
For this poor aching head,
With touches kind and soft.

Oh! smooth it yet again,
As softly as before;
Once—only once—and then
I need thy hand no more.

Yet here I may not stay,
Where I so long have lain,
Through many a restless day,
And many a night of pain.

But bear me gently fourth
Beneath the open sky,
Where, on the pleasant earth,
Till night the sunbeams lie.

There, through the coming days,
I shall not look to thee
My weary side to raise,
And shift it tenderly.

There sweetly shall I sleep;
Nor wilt thou need to bring
And put to my hot lip
Cool water from the spring;

Nor wet the kerchief laid
Upon my burning brow;
Nor from my eyelids shade
The light that wounds them now;

Nor watch that none shall tread,
With noisy footstep nigh;
Nor listen by my bed,
To hear my faintest sigh,

And feign a look of cheer,
And words of comfort speak,
Yet turn to hide the tear
That gathers on thy cheek.

Beside me, where I rest,
Thy loving hands will set
The flowers that please me best;
Moss-rose and violet.

Then to the sleep I crave
Resign me, till I see
The face of Him who gave
His life for thee and me.

Yet, with the setting sun,
Come, now and then, at eve,
And think of me as one
For whom thou should'st not grieve;

Who, when the kind release
From sin and suffering came,
Passed to the adopted peace
In murmuring thy name.

Leave at my side a space,
Where thou shalt come, at last,
To find a resting place,
When many years are past.

LICK HOUSE,

ALSTROM & CO.--The under- signed, formerly proprietors of the Oriental Hotel, respectfully inform the public that they have purchased the Lease and Furniture of the Lick House. Our friends and the public can rest assured that we shall leave nothing undone to merit their patronage.

It is conceded that the Lick House, has far superior advantages over all other hotels in California.

The house being but three stores high, the rooms are easy of access, well lighted, and contain all the modern improvements; the staircase and halls are wide, spacious and airy.

The Kitchen and Pantry are being enlarged, and we are certain of being able to give complete satisfaction in the Dining-hall department.

PATENT COMBINED GANG PLOW, SEED SOWER AND HARROW.

We have purchased the right this great labor-saving implement for the State of California.

With this combined Machine one man, with six horses, can do the work of three twelve inch plows, besides sowing the grain, and harrowing it in as he proceeds, thus finishing his work in the best manner possible, without being obliged to travel over the plowed ground. This Machine has been very thoroughly tested. It is made very substantial; is not liable to get out of order, and being on large truck wheels, the Gang Plow, Seed Sower and Harrow, runs lighter than three plows would, cutting the same amount of land.

We are desirous of having these plows generally introduced throughout the State, and are therefore prepared to offer very favorable inducements to farmers and the trade.
